One Hundred Wise Women Bios

Elizabeth Atwell

Executive Director
Mental Health America of Northern Kentucky and Southwest Ohio

Ms. Atwell serves as the director and is responsible to the Board of Directors for effective implementation of agency programs and services and for oversight of agency operations in both Kentucky and Ohio. Her role requires extensive knowledge of issues related to behavioral health disorders and commitment to client centered care with recovery being the goal. Ms. Atwell serves on numerous committees and provides leadership on key issues that impact the region. Additionally she works with Mental Health America at the national level to impact behavioral health issues across the nation.

Liz has twenty-four years of experience working in the social service/behavioral health field. She has worked with children, families, and the professional community developing expertise in the area of suicide prevention, intervention, and postvention. She is an ardent supporter of developing unique collaborations between mental health and justice systems. She helped to develop and instruct Crisis Intervention Team training for law enforcement, Mental Health First Aid co-instructed by law enforcement and mental health professionals, and other trainings. Liz co-founded the Partnership for Mental Health and worked with community groups throughout her career to develop innovative services to meet community needs.

Liz is an active volunteer in her community. She has volunteered for United Way of Greater Cincinnati in a variety of capacities over the years. She has utilized her professional experience to facilitate a Survivor After Suicide support group for over a decade in Clermont County. Her love of children led her to begin assisting the St. Veronica religious education program as a teacher for students with behavioral health issues and later a 7th grade teacher. Liz enjoys athletics and has served as a head soccer coach for Eastgate Soccer for a variety of age groups.

Liz has earned many honors including Ohio CIT Program of the Year and Connect 4 Health Community Innovation Award for Early Intervention.

She received an Associate Degree in Pre-Social Work from the University of Cincinnati and a Bachelor Degree in Social Work from Northern Kentucky University.

Liz resides in Clermont County with her husband, four children, and two dogs.

Jill Berkemeier

Chief Financial Officer and Vice President of Finance and Administration
Cincinnati Museum Center and the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center

As a Cincinnati native, I grew up in awe of Union Terminal, a National Historic Landmark. Now, I am proud to say that I work there, just another superhero at the Hall of Justice. As a finance leader with over 20 years of professional experience, I'm happy to bring that experience to Cincinnati Museum Center ("CMC") and the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center ("NURFC"). I serve as the Chief Financial Officer and Vice President of Finance and Administration, responsible for financial, accounting and treasury functions, facilities, human resources, and administration. In this capacity, I am thrilled to play a critical role in the first full historical restoration of Union Terminal, from the facilitation of the diverse funding sources including county sales tax levy, federal and state historic tax credits, state grants and private philanthropic gifts, to the management of the project budget and timeline while ensuring compliance with all federal, state and local requirements in collaboration with leadership, Boards, owners' representative, construction manager, architects, government administration (federal, state and local), various banks and community partners.

Prior to joining CMC, I held the top financial role with Global Novations, LLC, successfully managing the completion and integration of three acquisitions which led to the exit strategy that resulted in the acquisition of Global Novations by Korn/Ferry International. During this time, I implemented new systems and processes to form the backbone of the business while providing improved financial and operational data to improve results and facilitate growth. Throughout each acquisition, I integrated the business model from a finance and accounting perspective, as well as the operating business model which included human resources, legal, technology infrastructure and systems, pricing structure, business processes and related impacts to sales and client teams. Prior to that, I held the Director of Financial Analysis position at CBS Personnel where I focused on budgets, analysis, acquisitions, financing and due diligence; Assistant Controller at Service America; Internal Auditor at the Chemed Corporation; and Staff Accountant with concentration on audits and corporate taxes at VonLehman & Co.

I graduated from Thomas More College in Crestview Hills, Kentucky with a Bachelor of Arts in Accountancy and Associate of Arts in Business Administration. I am a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and Chartered Global Management Accountant (CGMA) and hold an AICPA Not-for-Profit Certificate: Core Concepts. My passion for accounting continues by serving as an active member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Dara Fairman

Time Management Strategist
My Time, My Way

Dara Fairman has always been known for her focused productivity and TIME MANAGEMENT. At the age of 18, while a marketing student at Hampton University, she made the decision to obtain her MBA from a top tier business school by the age of 24. As she matriculated over the next 4 years, she remained focused on gaining the academic and leadership achievements necessary to make this happen.

Post earning her MBA from the University of Michigan's Ross School of Business (by age 24), she enjoyed a very successful career in corporate marketing. Dara led numerous fruitful brand management, retail marketing, regional marketing and foodservice category management efforts for Fortune 200 companies.

Dara later began a career break while her children were younger. She relaunched her career as a TIME MANAGEMENT Strategist once both kids started school.

Dara Fairman has been a TIME MANAGEMENT Strategist since 2012. In that time, she has successfully executed numerous workshops and one-on-one personalized solutions. In 2016, she launched the very successful My Time, My Way program.

Dara has appeared on numerous television programs and news articles. She is a proud Working Moms Against Guilt contributor. She serves as a mentor/coach for the Black Career Women's Network. She is an active member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Oh, and she co-manages the budding young careers of a musician and an athlete (her kids).

Dara's simplified "you-can-do-it" approach is engaging, friendly and actionable.

Dara is so fortunate to be able to utilize her strengths towards helping others to improve the TIME MANAGEMENT and GOAL creation/execution skills that are so critical to a successful personal and professional life.
